All The Colors I Am Inside

In All the Colors I Am Inside, I create large-scale color photographs of people and nature to explore the tender voice of our intuition. I am guided by my mother's last words: "Trust your gut instincts."

Over the years, her parting words have become my north star. Using tools of light, time, and color, I challenge myself to construct photographs that reference the spark of energy and depth of wonder that pervade our interior lives. All the Colors I Am Inside represents the twining together of my mother's final gift and my photographic practice. My photos are of landscapes and portraits, but I am really searching for ways to express what lies beneath the surface.

Energy connects science and spirituality. Physicists explain it through subatomic particles and equations. Mystics call it a sixth sense. Our intuition often hits us first on a visceral level, telling us what we need to know well before our conscious mind catches up. All the Colors I Am Inside invites the viewer to reacquaint themselves with external and internal landscapes that are innately familiar yet hold an endless sea of possibilities.
