Letters From Earth and Sky

The words of Earth and Sky enter the material as I make each piece of art. The story they tell is expressing a way to deeply heal the planet. The titles of the pieces are openings to solving this mystery and restoring balance to our planetary evolution.

Clouds waft along, water brims boundless

Massive clouds appear and then fade, one after another, without end, and their waters replenish the whole universe without overstepping. We have to know directly this Mind where we become the flow of the clouds, where we become the water's ebb. For one who has realized this Mind, there's nothing to fear. Wherever something needs to be done, we respond without being asked.

It's not about living in a tiny ego world; it's about forgetting ourselves and diving in, making society our body and allowing the universe to be our life energy, continuing this functioning whether we are waking or sleeping. If just one person is like this, the world will be brought back to life and revived.
